Slight Improvement Noted in

Corps of Doctors Remain at White House

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—An official White House bulletin issued at 10:08 a. m., today said:

"Mrs. Harding's condition at 9:30: Temperature 99 1-2; pulse 90; respiration 30.

"Night less restless; elimination increased. Complications subsiding. General appearance indicates improvement. Operative procedure deferred.

"C. E. Sawyer."

Mrs. Harding spent a fairly restful night, but there was no marked change in her condition. Secretary Wallace was informed at the White House when he called this morning to inquire as to her condition.

OPERATION UNDECIDED

Secretary Weeks who called at the White House soon after Mr. Wallace left, announced on leaving that Mrs. Harding had spent the best night in several and that the slight improvement which set in yesterday was continuing with the patient's temperature getting nearer normal.

Mr. Weeks indicated that decision as to an operation, which was proposed yesterday after a consultation of physicians had not as yet been reached and said that Dr. Charles Mayo, the Rochester, Minn., specialist, had told him last night that developments would be awaited.

MORE ENCOURAGING

Senator Merrill McCormick of Illinois, after talking with Secretary Christian this morning told correspondents that reports on Mrs. Harding's condition were more encouraging than last night. Indications he said, pointed to an operation, as Mrs. Harding's physical condition was much more stable than it was.

Friends who remained at the White House until a late hour last night said on leaving that Mrs. Harding was then resting, relatively free from pain and still holding her own in her plucky fight for recovery.

For the first time in the four days of Mrs. Harding's desperate illness she was attended last night by only one nurse.

Dr. Carl W. Sawyer remained on duty through the night in the sick room while Dr. Charles Mayo, and all of the other doctors, except Dr. Finney, who returned to Baltimore to spend the night, slept at the White House.

FRIENDS HOPEFUL

President Harding, weary by the long vigil which he has kept at the bedside of his wife, left the sick room to retire at about eleven o'clock, the earliest hour he has slept in several nights, leaving her, however, that he should be called in the event of any further unfavorable symptoms, or if Mrs. Harding asked for him.

Among the many intimate friends who called at the White House, some were extremely hopeful that the continued absence of any new unfavorable symptoms meant a definite turn for the better.

Secretary Weeks and Senator New who were among the last callers to leave the White House last night both expressed this feeling.

PLANTS RESUME

Iron Production in Youngstown District Increases

YOUNGSTOWN — (Associated Press)—A marked improvement in coal supply, permitting the resumption of more blast furnaces and other units was announced today by independent steel operators here.

The Brier Hill Steel Company started its third blast furnace today and the Trumbull Cliffs Furnace will resume Wednesday, bringing iron production up to sixty per cent of capacity.

Other resumption are expected also among the Republic Iron and Steel Company's furnaces.

With fuel conditions improving, all the by-product coke ovens of the Brier Hill Steel Company, the Republic Iron and Steel Company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company are expected to be operating tomorrow. The Brier Hill plant will then be working at practically 100 per cent.

All the blast furnaces now in operation, with one exception, are getting their fuel from by-product coke ovens, showing that the shortage of Connellsville coke has not been broken.

FRUIT RUN BEGINS

PORT CLINTON, Ohio. The steamer Kirby has started its regular fruit runs from Catawba Island, Pullin-Bay and the islands to Detroit. Daily trips will be made, and expected close to 2000 bushels of peaches will be handled over the docks a day.

Ohio Coal Act May be Fought

BATTLE HINTED AS SOLONS MEET

Legislature Convenes to Put
Check on Profiteering

WILL PROVIDE DAVIS PLAN

Violators of Law to Face Term in Penitentiary

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press)—Assembling in special session here today at the call of Governor Davis, Ohio legislators took up consideration of the plan advanced by the governor for the assurance of fair coal prices during the coming winter.

Leaders previous to the convening of the assembly which was called to order at 10 a. m. professed to see no opposition among members of either house to enactment of the legislation requested by the governor, which would provide for appointment of a fuel administrator to have supervision over both wholesale and retail coal prices, enforcement of prices decided upon by either times or penitentiary sentences and the seizure by the state of mines, if such action became necessary to assure adequate fuel supplies at fair prices.

ACT MAY BE FOUGHT

Faced with state supervision of their business, coal men apparently were contemplating no opposition to the governor's plans. A statement by W. D. McKinney, secretary of the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange, and said to represent also the attitude of other operators and retailers, declared that the exchange would cooperate with the governor in his attempt to establish fair prices for coal mined in Ohio.

Intimation was made in several quarters that individual operators were considering the feasibility of testing the legislation in the courts should it be enacted.

While speedy action by the solons on the requested legislation was predicted in some quarters on the supposed desire of many members from rural districts to return to their homes, others declared that the length of the session depended upon how far the two houses desired to delve into the fuel situation.

A previous special session called on July 3, for the purpose of making available additional funds for the payment of the soldiers' bonus, was completed in one day.

GOVERNOR'S PLAN

According to the plan announced by the governor, the fuel administrator would not be an operator or other person financially interested in coal production in the state. A schedule of prices to be charged by both operators and retailers would be established on the basis of production and distribution cost which would be determined through information furnished by operators. Refusal to give such information would be punished by fine or imprisonment if subpoenas were repeatedly ignored.

Should mines be seized by the state, the legislation would provide that after costs of operation were paid, the coal would be sold at a price sufficient to cover the cost of equipment and for coal taken out.

Any legislation passed for the fixing of prices would be temporary.

PORTLAND, Maine — (Associated Press)—The first state election of 1922 was under way in Maine today with a United States senator, four representatives to congress and a governor heading the officials to be chosen. The adage "As Maine Goes So Goes the Country," attracted national-wide interest in the result, the only a tremendous turnout would change the present Republican control.

Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, was opposed by former Governor Oakley C. Curtis, Democrat.

Governor Percival P. Baxter, Republican, had former Attorney General W. R. Pattangall, Democrat, as an opponent.

INJUNCTION FIGHT IS BEGUN

Lines Drawn in Great Legal Battle at Chicago

U. S. HEAPS UP EVIDENCE

Tools of Destruction Presented by Government

CHICAGO — (Associated Press)—Supported by one of the most formidable legal batteries the government has ever thrown into one court action, Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty set his forces in motion today towards the goal of a permanent injunction in the railroad strike.

Reinforced by a great mass of evidence on an alleged gigantic plot of sabotage and terrorism, the attorney general presented his petition to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who granted the temporary restraining order September 1.

Arrayed against the government's lawyers and denying their charges of a widespread conspiracy of vandalism to cripple the nation's transportation machinery, was Donald A. Richberg, attorney for the striking shop crafts against whose leaders and members the government's action was directed.

DISCUSSION AVOIDED

As opposing legal forces drew up for what was admittedly one of the most far-reaching and important court actions of its kind ever attempted, both sides avoided much discussion of the day's proceedings.

While preparations for the injunction proceedings were under way at the federal building, the shop crafts policy committee of mine workers met with Bert M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor and leader of the strike.

Two carloads of evidence—tools of destruction, thousands of telegrams, letters, photographs, blueprints, books and transcripts of statements of some 17,000 individuals which the attorney general and his aides had, were closely guarded by federal agents. Secret service operatives protected Mr. Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson.

GOVERNMENT OF DEFENSE

Denying the existence of a conspiracy for violence during the strike by the railway unions and demanding that Judge Wilkerson vacate the injunction, Attorney Richberg built up his defense on the grounds that the government had failed to make a case against the unions, that the injunction is in violation of the Clayton act and that it was obtained through misrepresentation for "ulterior and unlawful" motives.

Concerning the sabotage charges, Attorney Richberg's brief said:

"The position of the shop crafts regarding vandalism or any act of violence in connection with the strike has been repeatedly stated from time to time since the inception of the walkout. The union leaders have time and again warned

MINES AGAIN BUSY FACTORY ROBBED

Anthracite Fields Are Scenes of Activity

Yeggs Blow Safe at Cleveland—Get $4,000

WILKESBARRE, Pa. — (Associated Press)—In striking contrast to the idleness of the last five months, the anthracite coal fields today were scenes of feverish activity when most of the 156,000 mine workers returned to work.

Many of them did not wait for the formal signing of the agreement which was ratified Saturday by their tri-district convention but were waiting at the mouth of the mines when the whistles blew at 6 a. m.

Signing of the new wage scale by union officials and representatives of the operators was set for 11 o'clock.

By the end of the week it is expected that production will be well under way and that several hundred thousand tons will be on the way to market. Leading operators said the normal output of two million tons a week probably would not be reached before the last of this month.

NEGRO IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Conflicting Stories Are Received
by Police on Shooting

INVESTIGATION CONTINUED

Dead Youth's Companion Held on Assault Charge

Robert Halloran, 19, 535 N. West-st. wounded by a bullet from a pistol in the hands of Otis Hines, 42, B. & O. headwaiter, died at 11:20 p. m. Sunday, at St. Rita's hospital.

A charge of first degree murder was preferred against Hines by police, Monday morning in criminal court. Baltimore and Ohio railroad attorneys, representing Hines, waived a reading of the affidavit, and pleaded not guilty for him.

Preliminary hearing was set for Thursday morning, by Judge Jackson. Eugene Lippincott, county prosecutor, by agreement of counsel, will represent the state at the hearing, since Paul Lewis, city solicitor and criminal court prosecutor, is away on his vacation.

HICKEY IS HELD

Enos Hickey, 23, 311 W. Halloran-st. in company with Halloran when the shooting took place, who was placed under arrest by police, charged with assault and battery, waived a reading of the charge against him. His case was set for hearing September 27.

Police investigation of the shooting which took place about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night on McKibben-st. between Main and Union-sts., revealed a score or more people who are said to have been eye witnesses.

Conflicting stories, varying with their view of the affair, are told, police declare.

D. K. Hoffer, 132 E. McKibben-st. in front of whom Hines fired the shot, later, police say, Hoffer changed his story declaring that he saw no blows struck. Hoffer claimed to have been sitting on the front porch of his home when the shooting took place. Other witnesses, police say, told conflicting stories.

United States deputy marshals stationed at the B. & O. shops during the strike of railway shopmen here, claim to have in their possession an affidavit charging Enos Hickey with violation of an injunction granted the B. & O. railroad restraining strikers from interfering with operations at the railroad shops. They will defer arrest of Hickey, they declared, until his case is disposed of by city officials. They refused to say who had signed the affidavit.

It was established, Monday morning, that Hines is a regularly deputized special policeman of this city, with full police power, the deputy marshals declared.

CONTINUE INVESTIGATION

Police, deputy marshals and officials of the B. & O. railroad continued their investigations of the affair Monday, gathering all available evidence.

Efforts made by police Saturday and Sunday to secure a statement from Halloran were fruitless. Until the time of his death, he was constantly attended by members of his family.

His body will be removed to the Halloran home Monday.

Besides the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Halloran, Sr., the youth is survived by a brother and two sisters, Bernard, manager of the K. of C. Recreation building, Josephine, at home, and Mrs. Milton Decker, of Breckenridge, Texas.

Halloran was a member of St. Rose Catholic church and affiliated with the Knights of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

"ALIAS THE LONE WOLF"

FASCINATING NEW NOVEL FOR READERS OF THE LIMA NEWS

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER I
Avoiding Danger—By Request

Through the suave, warm radiance of that afternoon of spring in England a gentleman of modest and commonly amiable deportment bore a rueful countenance down Piccadilly and into Halfmoon street, where presently he introduced it to one whom he found awaiting him in his lodgings, much at ease in his easiest chair, making free with his whiskey and tobacco, and reading a slender brown volume selected from his shelves.

This degage person was patently an Englishman. The other was as unmistakably of Gallic pattern, though he dressed and carried himself in a thoroughly Anglo-Saxon fashion.

The Englishman dropped his book to the floor beside the chair, uprose and extended a cordial hand, exclaiming: "Hare ye, Monsieur Duchemin?"

"Well, for the matter of that, How are you, Mister Wertheimer?" Their hands fell apart, and Monsieur Duchemin proceeded to do away his hat and stick and chamols gloves.

"Pretty way you've got of making your friends wait on your pleasure. Here I've wasted upward of two hours of His Majesty's time."

"How was I to know you'd have the cheek to force your way in here in my absence and help yourself to my few poor consolations?" Duchemin retorted, helping himself to them in turn. "But then one never does know what fresh indignity or danger fate has in store."

"There are some things one knows very definitely. You aren't forgetting you have given that Smolyi reason for holding your name anathema?"

"Ah!" Duchemin growled—"as for me, I can take care of myself, thank you."

"Man!" the Englishman declared solemnly—"you're superannuated. You're nearly forty—next door to second childhood."

"I know; and so long as I feel my years, even you can abuse me with impunity."

But Wertheimer would not hear him. "Odd," he mused, "I never thought of it before, that you were growing old. You're just doddering—and I thought you were simply tired out and needed a holiday."

"Perhaps I am and do," said Duchemin patiently. "One feels one has earned a holiday, if ever anybody did in your blessed Secret Service."

"Still—at your age—I'd be thinking about retiring instead of asking for a rest."

Although Duchemin knew very well that he was merely being ragged in that way of deadly seriousness which so often amuses the English, he chose to suggest sourly: "My resignation is at your disposal any time you wish it."

"Accepted," said Wertheimer airily, "to take effect at once."

To this Duchemin merely grunted, as who should say he didn't consider this turn of conversation desperately amusing.

"And to what," he inquired with the tedious irony of ennui, "is one indebted for this unexpected honor on the part of the First Under-Secretary of the British Secret Service?"

Or whatever your high-sounding official title is.

"Oh!" Wertheimer replied lazily, and knocked out his pipe—"I merely dropped in to say goodbye."

Duchemin discovered symptoms of more animus: "And where, pray, am I going?"

"That's for you to say."

Monsieur Duchemin meditated briefly. "I see," he announced: "I'm to have a roving commission."

"Worse than that: none at all," Duchemin opened his eyes wide. "Look here: What the devil—"

"Well, if you must know," the Englishman interrupted hastily, "my instructions were to give you your walking papers if you refused to resign. So your connection with the S. S. is from this hour severed. And if you ain't out of England within twenty-four hours, we'll jolly well deport you. And that's that."

"One perceives one has served England not wisely but too well."

"Shrewd! lad!" Wertheimer laughed. "You see, old soul, we admire you no end, and we're determined to save your life. Word has leaked through from Petrograd that your name has been triple-starred on the Smolyi's Index Expurgatorius. If you hang here much longer the verdict will undoubtedly be: Violent death at the hands of some person or persons unknown. So here are passports and a goodish bit of money. If you run through all of it before this blow over, we'll find a way of course, to get more to you."

The other nodded, investigating the envelope which his late chief had handed him and the smile faded from the eyes of the man whom England preferred to recognize as Andre Duchemin.

"But where on earth is one to go?"

"Don't ask me," the Englishman protested. "And above all, don't tell me. I don't want to know. I don't want you to come to a sudden end through somebody's establishing illicit intercourse with my subconscious mind."

He took his leave shortly after that; and Monsieur Duchemin settled down in the chair which his guest had quitted to grapple with his problem: where under Heaven to go?

He picked up in abstraction the book which Wertheimer had been reading—and wondered if, by any chance, he had left it there on purpose, so strong seemed the hint. It was Stevenson's "Travels With a Donkey."

If he assured himself—there were any place in Europe where one might count on being reasonably secure from the solicitous attentions of the grudge-bearing Bolsheviks, it was the Cevennes, those little-known hills in the south of France, well inland from the sea.

CHAPTER II
A City of Lunacy

A little place called Le Monastier, in a pleasant highland valley 15 miles from Le Puy, was notable for the making of lace, for drunkenness, for freedom of language, and for unparalleled political dissension, was Mr. Stevenson's point of departure on his "Travels with a Donkey." Monsieur Duchemin made it his as well.

The weather was fine, his heart high, he was happy to be out of harness and again his own man.

Constant exercise turned up muscles gone slack and soft with easy living. A keen sun darkened his face and hands, brushed up in his cheeks a warmer glow than they had shown in many a year, and faded out the heavier lines with which Time had marked his countenance.

Moreover, because this was France, where one may affect a whizzer

MILK UP 1 CENT

Advance to Farmers Given as Reason by Dairies

Decreases in the supply of milk being received from the farms has made necessary an increase in the price paid and a consequent increase in the selling prices of milk, it was announced at the White Mountain Dairy Co. Monday.

It was said prices have been advanced one cent on quarts while pints remain at former quotations, it was announced. Jersey milk has been advanced from 10 cents to 11 cents a quart and White Mountain milk from 9 to 10 cents a quart. Pints are six cents.

No statement was made as to the new prices to be paid the farmers for the raw milk. A new schedule will go into effect today, it was announced.

Some dairies in the city announced Monday that their prices had been increased to the schedule announced by the White Mountain.

IMPEACHMENT OF DAUGHERTY IS DEMANDED

HIGH CRIMES IN OFFICE CHARGED

Proceedings Begun in House by Minnesota Congressman

ASKS TRIAL BEFORE SENATE

Introduces Resolution for Probe by Committee

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—Impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty were begun in the house today by Representative Keller, Minnesota, Republican.

Keller filed with the house an indictment containing seven counts and introduced a resolution for investigation and report by the Judiciary committee, as to whether Daugherty should be tried before the senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment.

Keller based his impeachment demand on charges that Daugherty overrode the constitution, abused his authority and degraded his office by his action in obtaining from the federal court in Chicago the drastic injunction against railroad strikers. "The Minnesota representative also accused Daugherty of favoritism toward 'wealthy criminals'."

CAUSES SCURRY
"I impeach Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States for high crimes and misdemeanors in office," Keller began. Republican leaders scurried about in an effort to devise means of stopping Keller. They had a brief conference and decided there was no way to halt him.

Representative Garner, Texas, Democrat, stopped Keller temporarily by demanding a roll call to determine whether a quorum was present. The count showed a quorum.

Representative Blanton, Texas, Democrat, who has opposed certain labor principles, then interposed an objection asking that Keller be forced to read his charges first.

Keller complied with the request and Blanton then moved that the proceedings be quashed, because the charges are not specific and are only generalities. The chair, however, overruled him and Keller was permitted to proceed.

LIST OF CHARGES
Keller made the following specific charges against Daugherty: "First—Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States has used his high office to violate the constitution of the United States in the following particulars:

"1—By abridging the freedom of speech.

"2—By abridging the freedom of the press.

"3—By abridging the right of people peaceably to assemble.

"Second—That, upon duty of the duties of his office, and his oath to defend the constitution of the United States, and annulment of his obligations to discharge those duties faithfully and impartially, the said Harry M. Daugherty has, in the capacity of attorney general of the United States, conducted himself in a manner arbitrary, oppressive, unjust and illegal.

"Third—He has without warrant, threatened with punishment citizens of the United States, who have opposed his attempts to override the constitution and the laws of this nation.

"Fourth—He has used the funds of his office illegally and without warrant in the prosecution of individuals and organizations for certain lawful acts which under the law, he was specifically forbidden to prosecute.

"Fifth—He has failed to prosecute individuals and organizations violating the law after those violations have become a public scandal.

"Sixth—He has defeated the ends of justice by recommending the release from prison of wealthy offenders against the Sherman anti-trust act.

"Seventh—He has failed to prosecute defendants legally indicted for crimes against the people."

ROCK WALL BLASTED TO REACH ENTOMBED MINERS

JACKSON, Calif.—(United Press)—Crews fighting to save the 47 miners imprisoned fourteen days in the Argonaut gold mine here began driving their last barrier at 8 a. m. today.

During the night they reached the rock wall between the mine and the Argonaut shaft. Compressed air drills were moved up and sunk the holes for the first blast which was set off at 8 o'clock, making the first break in the stone barrier.

One hundred and fifty-seven feet of rock remains to be penetrated.

TABULATION OF BIDS ON SEWER IS NOT COMPLETED

Completion of the tabulations of bids on the Bellefontaine-ave and the S. Main-st relief sewers is not likely until late Monday or Tuesday morning, Vaughn Miller, city engineer, said Monday.

MOTHER SELLS BLOOD TO BUY SON EDUCATION

Parents Duty to Children Ends Only at Death, Mrs. Luther Gives as Reason

(BY ROY GIBBONS)

CHICAGO—(Special).—In order to give her son, Albert, 14, an education which she did not have herself, and thereby smooth the path of life for him in later years, Mrs. Henry Luther here, is selling her blood at $25 a pint, to pay for his high school tuition.

During the past three years she has submitted to 14 transfusion operations, and her right arm, scarred from innumerable lacerations, where surgeons opened her veins, is scheduled to be bled 10 times more.

"Because Albert is going back to school again, and he'll need more money for books and such things," Mrs. Luther says.

This mother's name and address is on file in a local Chicago hospital, in which she is called in time for her blood.

SEWER IS SEALED, OFFICIALS SAY

Cement Poured Into Big Tubes, Causing Flood

Investigation Monday disclosed to city officials that cement had been poured into the sewer which overflowed and flooded portions of Lafayette-st. September 2.

A number of workmen who claimed to have observed the pouring of the cement were called into the office of the city engineer and asked to make statements.

William W. Scham was in charge of the investigation, and while no official statement was made as to the information received, it is understood that the men corroborated previous reports that the sewer had been intentionally sealed.

The investigation will be continued, it was announced, until it is possible to decide positively who was responsible for the overflow.

A heavy rain Sunday night caused no damage to the sewer, but the sewer had been opened and is now carrying away the water.

PLAN FINE FIELD

Central to Have Good Grounds for Games

When completed, Central High school's athletic field at the college grounds will be second to none in the state so far as grounds are concerned, according to Homer Hughes, member of the building and grounds committee of the board of education.

Workmen have started leveling the field with power machinery, enough dirt having been thrown up in ditching operations to give the field a smooth clay surface. The field is laid 20 feet apart.

Construction of bleacher seats to accommodate crowds which will throng there for the opening game September 23 with Sidney will be started this week.

MINOR BUSINESS ONLY BEFORE COMMISSION

City officials have received no indication that either the power or street railway questions will be discussed at the city commission meeting Monday night.

Possibility that one or more of the commissioners will not be able to attend the meeting will also make any discussion of more important matters impossible, it was indicated.

Routine business only with the consideration of several small sewer projects had been scheduled with Harry N. Osgood, city clerk, Monday.

GAS CO. ASSIGNS MAN TO CARE FOR STREET LIGHTS

A desire to keep all gas street lights operating at the greatest efficiency was expressed in a letter to Vaughn Miller, city engineer, from the Lima Natural Gas Co. Monday.

R. L. Lynch has been placed in charge of the street light department of the gas company and will do all in his power to see that the equipment is in working condition and of the most modern design.

Arrangements have been made with the Weisbach Mangle Co., Chicago, who furnish all the equipment needed, to keep a careful watch over the apparatus, the letter stated.

AUTHORITY IS ASKED

A petition asking for a court order to distribute a trust fund will be before Judge Mary and Benita Rose, grandchildren of the late Margaret Moriarty, was filed in common pleas court Monday by the Rev. Father A. E. Manning, trustee, Mrs. Moriarty died in 1905, leaving $900 to her little granddaughters. The children are now dead, the petition says.

AUTOS COLLIDE

An auto and a truck collided at Spring and Collett-sts. Sunday, M. B. Miller, 105 W. Henton-st. Wapak, was driving the auto at the time of the accident and, according to police report, alleges Murray Shelton, 723 W. Spring-st., was driving the truck 20 miles an hour. The machines were only slightly damaged. Neither of the occupants were injured.

FORD BARS LIQUOR RELIEF FROM HOMES

Possession by Employees Will Cost Job, He Declares

DETROIT—(Associated Press).—The 70,000 men employed by the Ford Motor Company here were under orders from Henry Ford today to leave all forms of liquor, wine and beer alone at all times under penalty of losing their jobs.

Asserting that drinking among certain of his employees recently had been the cause of accidents in the Ford plants, the manufacturer issued a statement declaring that any of his workmen whose breaths smelled of liquor, who were found to be carrying liquor or who were known to have it in their homes would be dismissed at once.

"From now on it will cost a man his job without any excuse or any appeal to be considered, to have the odor of beer, wine or liquor on his breath or to have any of these intoxicants on his person or in his home," Mr. Ford notified the employees.

"The eighteenth amendment is a part of the fundamental law of this country. It was meant to be enforced. Politics has interfered with enforcement of this law but so far as our organization is concerned, it is going to be enforced to the letter."

LITTLE DELINQUENCY IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

F. J. Plesteroff, attendance officer of the county system of schools, is checking enrollment at country and village schools and the office of County Superintendent C. A. Arganbright.

An enrollment of 72 pupils in the freshmen class of the Spencerville school, which opened a week later than others, is better than some cities of 5,000 population show. Arganbright declared. Spencerville's population is about 1,600.

DOVES PROTECTED UNDER RECENT FEDERAL MEASURE

A recent ruling on the killing of doves in Ohio, reported Monday by Charles Hanes, deputy game warden for this district, does not provide an open season.

A. G. Baxter, chief of the state fish and game division, formerly held that doves could be killed, but the ruling was revised, Hanes said, when a regulatory federal measure took precedence over the state ruling.

MEN AND MATTERS

No further action is contemplated at present by the local boy scout organization in its effort to raise $5,000 for the promotion of the work next year, President H. E. Simonton declared Monday. The money is needed for maintaining the scout executive offices and defraying expenses of organization.

A short meeting of the crippled children committee of the club was called by President Edward Gordon to discuss certain phases of the work for the coming year. It was held immediately after the luncheon.

HAVE you spied anything today? If you have, and you think other readers of The Lima News would enjoy hearing about it, sit right down and write in to the I-Spy Editor, telling all about it.

Hosts of readers of The News have secured tickets to the New Orpheum theatre, merely by remembering to look around them as they shopped in the downtown stores or took a walk down the street and by telling the I-Spy Editor just what they saw. It's really fun, after you get into the habit, and the fun is mutual when you send in your observations for the rest of the readers to read and enjoy.

Here are the four winners picked from among the many letters received in today's mail. To each of the four, one ticket to the New Orpheum theatre has been mailed. There's a ticket here for you, too, so step lively and see what you can see.

NICE COLD WATER

Miss Erwin, 723 1/2 S. Main-st., relates being at a friend's house the other evening. The girl was waiting for some water to heat and sent her younger sister out into the kitchen to see whether or not it was boiling. "The child came back, saying 'No.' Waiting about 5 minutes, she again sent her out, but the child came back saying the water was not hot. About ten minutes later, being sent on the same errand, she returned a verdict of 'still cold.' Big sister went to look for herself and found the water was not hot that she could not get her finger in it. At being told that she was a story teller, small sister answered:

"I am not a story teller. How did I know it was hot? It wasn't smoking."

PASS WILLIE THE PICKLES

"I was visiting a home where they had a small son named Willie," says Clayton Toole, West-Cairo, "At dinner one day Willie noticed a strange dish and asked his mother what it was. 'That is pickle-licious,' said his mother. Thinking his mother said Pickle Willie, it impressed itself on small Willie's mind. 'Later in the day, he was telling a playmate about it. 'We have a new dish at our house,' he said. 'Ma calls it 'Pickle me.'"

HOT DAWG!

Miss Lenore Myers, Columbus Grove, RR 2, writes the following: "While at the county picnic, the new confection, 'Cold Dog,' was being sold. A small boy hearing it talked about, started to cry bitterly. 'Gimme a bulldog, mamma, gimme a bulldog,' he yelled lustily, and his mother had a hard time trying to discover just what it was he wanted."

NOW I LAY ME

Mrs. W. R. Rudy, 1115 W. Wayne-st., tells about her niece, aged 4, who was saying her prayers. She got along splendidly until the end, and then forgot the word "Amen." After a period of deep thought, she folded her hands and said, very reverently, "All gone-sky," with which she concluded her prayer.

LOW BIRTH AND DEATH RATE FOR LAST MONTH

The lowest birth and mortality rates in recent years is reported for the month ending September 10, from the office of Dr. J. J. Sutor, district health commissioner. There were 34 births and six deaths.

A large decrease from the previous month is noted. There were 80 births and 14 deaths then, the birth rate being the largest since March 1921. The rates during the last month were also smaller in comparison with the same period of 1921, when 42 births and 24 deaths were reported.

YOUNG MAN SLAIN GIRL WOUNDED

Mystery Tragedy Enacted on Road Near Lancaster

REVOLVER FOUND IN AUTO

Shots Believed Fired by Youth's Female Companion

LANCASTER, Ohio—(United Press).—Earl Custer, 21, was found dead, and Beulah Grover, 16-year-old high school girl, in a dying condition on a lonely country road near Pleasantville today.

The girl's limp form was in the driver's seat of the automobile in which the two had started for a ride late last night.

Custer's body lay by the roadside between the car and the fence. Miss Grover was rushed to a Lancaster hospital, where physicians held little hope for her recovery.

Condition of her clothes showed the girl had been the victim of an attack.

CORONER'S OPINION

"I believe Miss Grover shot Custer in an effort to protect her honor," the coroner asserted. "It looks very much like she then attempted her own life."

Coroner C. C. Gulsinger scouted the police theory of a love pact.

A revolver, containing three empty shells, lay in the seat beside the wounded girl.

Custer had been shot once just below the heart and once thru the forehead. The shooting occurred shortly after midnight, the coroner believes.

PROTEST NOT FILED IN APPEALS COURT

CINDERELLA SALLY

by Zoe Beckley

"MY SON IS NOT INTERESTED IN KITCHEN SCULIONS!"

And the boy, who was comforting the wee-begone little wif, knew that the icy tones which framed the insulting words were those of his mother.

This last insult was too much. Worms, even the weakest, will turn and the founding from the orphan asylum turned now.

She had tolerated much since entering this home of the newly rich where she performed the most disagreeable tasks in the kitchen.

In anger, they had called her "upstart" and "little squirt." Even in their better moments, they had sneeringly referred to her as "Cinders." And now the time had come for revolt.

The story of Sally Dawson's revolt against the insults of the world, her battle against the environment into which an unkind fate had tossed her, makes a brilliant romance of the girl of the Twentieth Century working girl.

TURKISH VICTORY PERILS EUROPE

United Nations Divided Over War in Asia Minor

GREEK THRONE IS TOTTERING

Overthrow of King Constantine is Threatened

LONDON — (Associated Press) — Sweeping the Greek forces from Asia Minor in a whirlwind campaign lasting only two weeks, the Turkish Nationalists under Mustafa Kemal have won a great military victory and at the same time at least partly nullified the losses to their nation thru the world war.

Thus is created a situation full of the gravest possibilities—one demanding the immediate adoption of a united policy by Great Britain, France and Italy—and such a policy is far from existing, according to the view generally held here.

France and Italy are accused in some quarters of having not only encouraged the Kemalists, but of having supplied them with arms and munitions, although it is reported now in the same circles that they are becoming alarmed at the unexpected extent of the Turkish successes.

The press greets with indications of alarm the big claims advanced by the Turkish representatives in Paris and Rome while Soviet Russia's alleged desire to establish a Bolshevik-Kemalist alliance aimed at the control of Constantinople and the Bosphorus Dardanelles brings renewed demands that the neutrality of these be maintained at all costs.

EFFECT IN INDIA

Another cause of uneasiness here is the effect of the Kemalists' victory is having in India, where prayers for their success have been said daily in the mosques and every address has been hailed with glee by the Mohammedans.

BITTER CAMPAIGN IS ENDED

Massachusetts Will Name Candidates for Senate Tomorrow

FIGHT IS WAGED ON LODGE

Maryland Voters Are Picking Their Choice Today

BOSTON — (Associated Press) — The most bitter primary campaign ever fought in this state was being closed today with nominations for United States senator, governor and the lesser state offices to be made at the polls tomorrow.

An intense fight was waged by the two candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Governor Channing H. Cox and Attorney General J. Weston Allen.

Senator Lodge, a candidate for renomination by the Republicans, has not stumped the state, but his opponent, Joseph W. Walker, has campaigned vigorously.

On the Democratic side the four seekers for the nomination to oppose Senator Lodge are Colonel William W. Gaston, Professor Dallas Lore Sharp and Sherman L. Whipple. In the contest for the gubernatorial nomination the candidates are Joseph E. Ely of Westfield, former Mayor John J. Fitzgerald, of Boston, former Governor Eugene N. Foss and Mayor Peter F. Sullivan of Worcester.

MARYLAND VOTING

BALTIMORE, Md. — (Associated Press) — Maryland voters went to the polls today to select candidates for United States senator and congressmen. The only Republican contest was for senator, John W. Garrett, secretary of the Washington armament conference, opposing Senator Joseph I. France for renomination. The Democrats had a three-cornered fight for senator and contests in five of the six congressional districts.

The Democratic senatorial candidates are William C. Bruce, ex-congressman David J. Lewis and William I. Norris. Because there are more than two candidates the voters are required to designate their first and second choice as among the three. The voting will be by counties, being based on the selection of county delegates to the party convention. In the event that none of the three candidates receives a majority of the first choice votes in any county, a system is provided by which the second choice votes of the lowest candidate are distributed among the others in accordance with the preference expressed by the voters, to determine the winner.

Mr. Daugherty met last night and conferred with late with John W. Crim, assistant attorney general; Blackburn Easterline, assistant to the solicitor general, Charles F. Clynne, United States district attorney in Chicago and others.

Many government investigators who took part in the collection of evidence were on hand to testify. Subpoenas, it was said, might run into the hundreds, with indications that the hearings would last several days.

The scene of today's action was laid in the court room where former Judge K. M. Landis imposed a fine of $29,000,000 on the Standard Oil Company and pronounced sentence upon "Big Bill" Haywood and other I. W. W. leaders.

FIRST SKIRMISH IS WON BY U. S.

CHICAGO — (United Press) — The first skirmish in the battle over making permanent the Daugherty injunction to break the railroad shopmen's strike, was won by the government forces in federal court here today.

Judge James H. Wilkerson, who granted temporary restraining order, turned down a request by Donald Richberg, representing the shop and union officials, that he be allowed to present arguments first on his motion to dismiss the injunction.

The confidence of the court has been betrayed by the chief law enforcing officer of the nation," Richberg declared.

FRENCH TIGER TO SPEAK IN U. S.

Clemenceau Will Urge America Finish Peace Task

WANTS WAR TIES RENEWED

Visit Prompted by Critical Situation in Europe

PARIS — (United Press) — Georges Clemenceau is going to the United States, to tell Americans they should stand shoulder to shoulder with France and England to finish the task of establishing permanent world peace.

The old tiger of France, who has been in virtual seclusion since his retirement from politics two years ago, made this declaration in a telegram to the United Press.

He will make four speeches in America this year, according to present plans.

Clemenceau's telegram follows: "I consider that America magnificently accomplished all her duties of solidarity during the war, but in peace which is the goal of war, the duties of solidarity of each party are not exhausted by an arrangement of conditions whereby one of the parties may stand aside. I believe that if the solidarity had been maintained between America, France and England, then the present crisis would have been avoided. It cannot be solved without a resumption of that solidarity. I am disposed to go and express myself publicly on this in America myself at the end of the war."

CAUSES OF STATEMENT

Announcement of Clemenceau's opinion of the attitude of the United States was elicited by the statement of Rudyard Kipling, famous English poet, severely criticizing America for "entering the war too late and quitting too early."

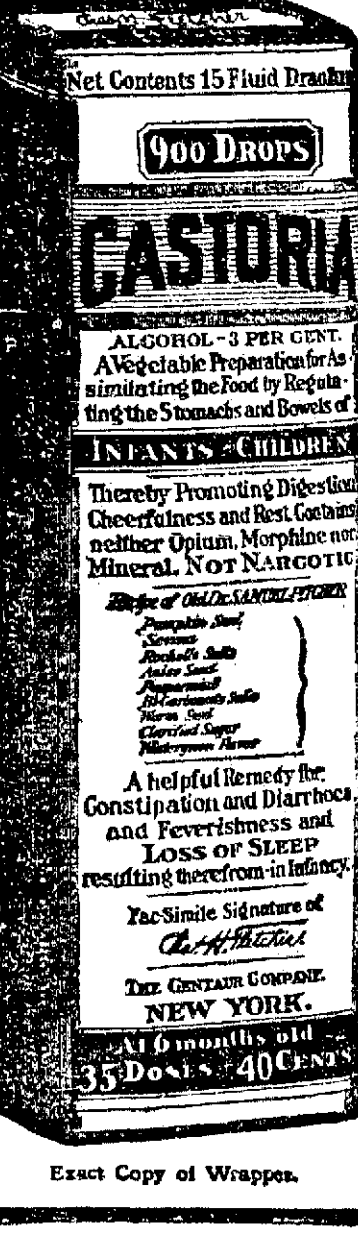

Clemenceau makes plain he does not agree with Kipling, but believes the United States should resume its war partnership with Great Britain and France for the purpose of putting world peace on stable foundation.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late? MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

PRICES AFFRONT TO GOVERNMENT

Present coal prices are higher than at any time in Ohio coal mining history and present an emergency which "affects in vital and far-reaching manner the life of every citizen in Ohio," Governor Davis declared in his message to the legislature.

"Skyrocketing coal prices," the governor declared, "unless immediately checked, will not only saddle a tremendous direct burden on the ordinary citizen, but will with like effect, reflect themselves in the cost to him of every other product into the manufacture of which coal enters."

In justification of the calling of the second special session of the assembly within three months, the governor told the legislators that existing coal prices "constitute an affront to the theory of our government and challenge our most fundamental principles."

Failure on the part of the state government to exercise "every intrinsic right that is safeguarded thru our institutions for the preservation of the public welfare" would be "a

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The conference report on the administration tariff bill was in the making today, the Republican conferees having reached a final agreement on the 2,436 points in dispute between the senate and house.

A schedule of the assets and liabilities of the Coca Cola Bottling Co., which was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy September 6 will be filed in federal court at Toledo soon, Harvey D. Grindie, referee declared Monday.

CAMPAIGN TO BE OPENED SOON

Fair Board Will Start Work for Bond Issue

While meeting to approve a resolution on the proposed $55,000 bond issue for new grounds, the Allen-co fair board Tuesday night will begin perfecting a boosting organization.

Plans are still in infancy, Secretary G. D. Cremon said, but in all probability the suggestion to unite with the Lima chamber of commerce, business organizations and clubs for a campaign will be adopted.

Speedy work is necessary, Cremon says, because the lease which the board has on the Lima Driving park expires early next year and six of the directors who have been active in boosting for new grounds will retire in January. The latter are Otis Fraunhofer, Ed Youngster, Harry Patterson, J. F. Martz, W. A. Ehrman and L. L. Miller.

LONG, LONG AGO

DO you ever wonder how modern life compares with long ago in America, when grandpa was a lad? Turn back 83 years and see whether you would exchange places.

Times were hard in 1839. The United States Bank, having over-specified in cotton, was forced to suspend operations. The failure involved only $2,000,000 in deposits, but it precipitated a financial panic in which over 400 banks were obliged to close, many of them for good.

Congress, as usual, shot off on a tangent and got interested in something else. It raised a cyclone of oratory against the "barbarity" of using a pack of bloodhounds that had been imported from Cuba to track down Seminole Indians in Florida. Before the talking subsided, the dogs were abandoned as inefficient.

The cheer-up crew told the nation that its hope for prosperity was in foreign trade. Great elation when Messrs. Baldwin, Vail & Huffy announced that their Philadelphia plant had received orders for several locomotives for English railroads.

IT was in 1839 that Charles Goodyear perfected his process of vulcanizing rubber. Another inventive sensation of the year was furnished by Prof. John William Draper of University of New York, who announced he had made "the first photographic portrait ever taken from life."

W. F. Harnden, Boston plunger, started the first express service in 1839, carrying packages between his city and New York.

The wilderness was far from conquered. In Florida the Indians were on the warpath, a bounty of $200 on their heads.

A row broke out between England and America over the boundary of Maine. Regulars were rushed to the border and after a winter's "persuasion" succeeded in calming the Maine farmers, who had decided to settle the argument with their rifles.

A marvel of 1839 was that the cost of running the national government was less than $38,000,000 for the year. The national debt then was a trifle under $12,000,000.

OTHERWISE, the year 1839 was uneventful, except for customary trouble with Mexico. Still, there's a certain glamor about those old days, and maybe the reason we moderns sometimes complain that life is dull is because so many sensational things happen that we are becoming jaded.

Life today is a carnival -- very interesting at first, then homesome after a while, the spectators wanting to get away where it's quiet. There is such a thing as life being so super-interesting that it's dull. Extremes meet.

SILLY

AN American woman tourist takes a special room in the Savoy Hotel, London, for a pet dog trained to sleep in a bed. Close on her heels comes another American, leading a pet giraffe. Sweet Patricia by name, for which he demands lodging and meals.

Touring Yanks this season are "running strong" to animals, especially freakish selections such as baby leopards. Taking care of these pets is driving hotel managers frantic, says London Daily Mail. Considering the way Americans are drinking abroad, the hotel men should thank their lucky stars that the visitors do not insist on quarters for their pink elephants. Maybe they do.

COLDER

GOOSE-BONE weather prophets begin to be heard from. First prediction, and it's for a cold winter, comes from the Yakima Indians near Wapata, Wash. Winter will be cold and long, they say, because flies and other insects have been unusually numerous.

Weather bureau experts claim that the amateur prophets usually are wrong. But when the squirrel lays away lots of nuts, and tree bark and fox fur are thick, ignore the experts and bet on a hard winter. What makes the squirrel know enough to stock heavily with food? What makes trees prepare months ahead, by growing heavy bark? Is nature merely a chemical machine?

As they march into eternity, one of their strongest impressions must be that the Union they saved has not turned out exactly as they expected. The flag is about the only thing that hasn't changed beyond recognition.

HAIR

MARCEL, aged Frenchman, celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his invention of the Marcel wave.

Discover anything to magnify the beauty of woman, and you have a short-cut to fame and wealth. Marcel, once poor, is a millionaire. Come back to earth 1000 years from now and "Marcel wave" still will be part of the language.

It's all for the best. The beauty of woman, in nature's scheme of things, is more important than science and engineering. Reproduction of life is nature's first concern. As a sideline, she lets us erect perishable building projects and invent false philosophies.

FOOLISH LAND

(After re-reading Alice in Wonderland and Davy and the Goblin.)
I've been on a journey with Davy and Alice

To the land of nonsensical fun.
I've seen the White Queen in her ludicrous palace;

In the hat of the Goblin I've spun.
I've met with the whale that was talking with Davy.

And the Rabbit that Alice pursued,
And the Mock-Turtle singing by seas that were wavy.

And the Duchess — egregiously rude!
I've sipped my cold tea with the Dormouse and Hatter.

I've met the White Knight in the wood,
I've heard Humpty-Dumpty's nonsensical chatter.

And found it exceedingly good,
With Davy I've visited Robinson Crusoe.

And Simbad the Sailor as well,
I've heard all their stories told over and over.

I've many gay stories to tell,
With Davy I've wandered, with Alice I've traveled.

A whimsical, fanciful way,
I've seen miles of magical nonsense unraveled.

In a land of fantastical play;
I've been far afield from the world of Lima.

and its malice.
Afar from its dust and its grime,
Once more I've been reading of Davy and Alice.
And I've had a wonderful time!

REPORTS ATTACK

F. D. Mann, Paper Carrier, Believes He Was Slugged

F. D. Mann, 35, R. F. D. 7, Lima, has mystified police with a report that he was knocked unconscious early Sunday morning as he was riding his bicycle to The Lima News office.

Unidentified assailants, Mann believes, slugged him as he turned from North into the alley between Main and Union-sts.

With regained consciousness, his bicycle and a pair of glasses were gone, he declared. He immediately went to police headquarters and made a report of the incident.

Mann was unable to designate the exact spot of the alleged attack. He remembers, he says, passing the court house on North-st., and turning into the alley. From that time until he made a report of the affair to police, he said, he can recall nothing.

He exhibited two bruises on his head. Mann carries a route for The Lima News.

A Page from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter: Up betimes, and belovestairs to radiolishes. Abroad with a weather report under my cap. Saying cooler it will soon be. No signs thereof in the skies.

To the office, where all the morning's cast accounts against the week-end.

ABE MARTIN

Some women are so given to "boastin'" that they tell how much money their husbands are savin' under prohibition. Governor McCray, o' Indiana, stopped Jack Dempsey at Michigan City on Labor day.

Whence called to the Deisel store for conference. The crowds being so dense, Roy Dunn wanted to put on girl traffic cops. Which he did.

Out, and greeted Ed W. Hiner, the banker, newly come from Washington. To act as co-receiver of the Chalmers Pump company. Chatted with Joe Tullis, the expert tonsorial artist and philosopher. Who has started a new college of discourse on High-st west.

Saw Mrs. Gwen Jones Pence, looking fit and calm, after her fly from London to Paris. Lunched with my wife and Dee, on macaroni and cheese. And snow pudding for the sweet.

In the afternoon, feeling like Saracen and with no other than Circuit Judge Kent Hughes for a partner. To the links. What Chris McCune and Newt Cunningham did to Hughes and his partner was murder.

In discourse with the Hon. Benj. Willy. He served in the Volstead congress, and says Volly himself is a nice fellow. Albeit, he never attended a saengerfest in his whole life. Had a caddy, an unusual experience, who never spoke one word during the 18 holes. And always found the ball. He'd make a noble banker, and must so speak to Mose Mitchell.

Dined at the Tokio. Rather like the brave new Mikado chair covers. A great concourse there. With watermelon winning the popularity contest. Out for a trim, and waited long on Jake Piper. Which reminds me. That I wanted to tell you about Judge

Hughes. And his whiskers which are looking more like his Uncle Charles Evans' every day. Albeit, the Secretary of State wears them more regularly.

After our watermelon, we listened long and guessed what piece the band was playing. But never could. At Elizabeth-Market, stood fifteen minutes by Blum's super-clock, waiting for traffic. Until a nifty widow wanted to know whose funeral it was. And her niece, said it wasn't. As she just learned the traffic cop had been run over and killed.

Waved to John Collins. Dealer in education and bad boys. The discourse is. What he is to do with all the children? It seems to have been popular indoor sport the past six years. Putting salt on the stork's tail. There are more sweet kiddies than there are school rooms and desks. A great new graded building must be built at McDonel, and Elm. Unless, married folk change their habits. And I don't believe they will.

In the evening, to the office. For on the morrow am to go to hear Rev. Pat's last epistle to the Episcopals. John Roby will sing; and George Glover pass the plate. I don't mind watching George pass the plate.

On my way home to the shack, saw Charlie Stolzenbach. Albeit he going so fast couldn't catch step. Remember when the girls wore divided skirts? My pajama coat is that style. So, into it.

YOUR HEALTH

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

OVERWEIGHT

(BY DR. R. H. BISHOP)

People who are overweight should endeavor to become normal, not because of appearance, but because it is an abnormal condition and prevents greater activity.

Fat cells do not work and hence the number of working cells is relatively less in a fat person in proportion to the weight, than in a thin person. Also, there is less body surface exposed in proportion to the weight of the body, and consequently less heat loss. Likewise, fat people are less active, and their cell-engines do not call for much fuel; so they do not use as much food as lean or muscular people of the same weight. This explains why women do not need the same amount of food as a man of the same weight.

For extreme overweight, diet should be prescribed by a physician to suit the needs of each particular case. There are, however, certain general principles that are applicable to the average case.

Some foods, in particular, have an quite careless, while we might just as well be eating other foods with a lower fuel value and be just as well satisfied, if we but stopped to think.

For instance, it would take about $9 worth of lettuce to make 2500 calories, while 30 cents' worth of butter or 10 cents' worth of sugar would furnish this same amount.

No one would think of feeding exclusively on any one of these foods, but we can readily see how the elimination of butter and sugar, and the addition of such foods as lettuce, tomatoes, celery, carrots, spinach and fruits would enormously reduce the fat-forming elements in the diet.

SPORT

"It is strong for college men."
So Billy Evans said.
But he isn't quite so strong for them.
As for the fair cored.

Mobile won the Southern Association pennant by defeating New Orleans yesterday 3 to 0.

Terre Haute, Ind., capped the pennant in the Three-I league, which closed Sunday. Decatur, Ind., was second and Peoria third.

It's a case of on-again and off-again with the Cincinnati Reds, who after skidding to fifth place now find themselves again reposing in third.

A center went a casting.
Casting for a new front.
He cast in to them all day long.
But couldn't cast them out.

Sixteen matches were scheduled today for the national singles championships at Philadelphia. The most important was a match between Captain J. O. Anderson of the Australian Davis Cup team and Jaden Williams, intercollegiate champion.

Jimmy Vandorn, 19, won the class B championship of the Great Lakes yesterday by sailing his boat, the Goblin, to his third straight victory in three days over Scrapper 11.

WEEKS MEDIUM PRICED CAR

Plan is Widely Discussed in West

(BY R. C. FORBES)

SALT LAKE CITY (Special)—If you like this true anecdote? An old San Francisco character, Meyer, who, from humble beginnings, had succeeded in becoming an important and very wealthy financier, was walking down the street alone one evening at about 10 o'clock.

When he was looking for a place to stop, he saw a man in a suit and hat, who was looking at him. He stopped and asked him, "What time is it?"

Instead of stopping to take out a watch, the suspicious old banker replied, "It's time to run."

With that he was off down the street like a shot.

Henry Ford's announcement that he was to shut all his plants next week has caused something like a panic in the West.

DAYTON GREETED J. M. COX

Unusual Welcome Given Ex-Governor Returning from Europe

DAYTON—(Associated Press)—James M. Cox, publisher and plain citizen of Dayton, arrived home this morning at 10:30 o'clock after more than two months in Europe.

Mr. Cox landed at New York Saturday afternoon. The greeting extended to Mr. Cox at union station by a committee of fifty men representing the Dayton Chamber of Commerce was such as is seldom given to a private citizen.

Men in all walks of life, the professional man, merchant, manufacturer, soldier and artisan were present to extend the glad hand of welcome and to bespeak their pleasure at seeing him safe and well after his sojourn abroad.

There was nothing effusive about the greeting, no formalities, no ceremonies. As Mr. Cox stepped from his coach the members of the committee, every one his personal friend, greeted him with "Hello Jim, glad to see you back."

For each, Mr. Cox had a warm handshake and a word. To every one of them he let it be known that he was glad to be again among the scenes and the activities most familiar to him. "I am glad I am back," was his first exclamation after reaching the platform.

The train bearing Mr. Cox was an hour late in arriving from New York, due to engine trouble. Mr. Cox, with Mrs. Cox, Anne, his infant daughter, James Cox, Jr., and Dan J. Mahoney, his son-in-law, made the trip from New York together.

SHORT SHAVINGS

George Glover, 1318 Lakewood av., drove his fine car to work the other morning. His usual parking place was taken so he had to park it at some distance from his office.

Not seeing the car in its usual place in the evening, he forgot about it and boarded a street car.

When he was two-thirds of the way home he remembered it.

Dennis F. Ryan, 1292 S. Main-st., attended a show the other night. A party of four were sitting in front of him. Three complained that they couldn't see the stage well and bewailed the fact that they hadn't brought opera glasses along.

"The fourth solved this problem," says Ryan. "He produced his eye-glasses and the four took turns wearing them."

Slats Mathews, fireman, reports that a boy wanted to catch one of the many pigeons in front of the fire house, and asked how he could do it.

Mathews advised him to drop his cap on one and grab it. A little later the boy came into the house and said, "I did as you said, and the pigeon flew away with my cap." A new cap, he says, cost him $1.

James Anderson, Wapakoneta druggist, had his expert attention called to a burn on the neck of a fair miss who said, "See that red mark on my neck?" He asked, "Did you put something on it?" And she said, "Yes. A curling iron."

THE DRAWBACK

"I'm glad you don't like candy. I expect I would only get fat too quick."

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

The Joy

Of watching film-coats disappear from teeth

If you don't know these facts as yet, send now for this free test.

All the world over careful people are brushing teeth in a new way. Millions of them in America alone. You see the results in prettier teeth wherever you look today. Now let your own teeth show them.

Combat the film

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It then forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All of these troubles were constantly increasing under old brushing methods.

Then this came

Dental science then began a search for film combatants. Eventually two were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent.

In that modern tooth paste are embodied those two great film combatants.

Two other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which research proves essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to constantly neutralize the acids which cause decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids. Thus Pepsodent, twice daily, gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

What it means to a child

Pepsodent brings a new era in teeth cleaning. It means that children need not suffer what you may have suffered from your teeth. It means that boys and girls, as they grow up, need not have dingy teeth.

Do this

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will bring to you and yours a new idea of what clean teeth mean. Cut out coupon now.
